

TENNESSEE LABOR-MANAGEMENT FOUNDATION

SPONSOR VS. PARTICIPANT

Background:

The Tennessee Labor-Management Foundation (TLMF) is a non-profit organization whose purpose is to foster a positive affiliation between labor and management, to encourage an affirmative environment for labor and management relations through educational conferences and providing scholarships to increase and retain the number of new professionals entering the human resources or labor relations field as a career in order to sustain growth and cooperation in the labor-management industry within the State of Tennessee.

The continuation of TLMF's programs is in a large part dependent on funding from groups that attend and/or support TLMF conducted events. Sponsor/participant donations are used for student scholarships and career advancement for HR/Management professionals and Union participants.

Sponsor:

Sponsors play a huge role in the success of the annual TLMF conference conducted in Nashville, TN, with 2017 marking the 30th consecutive conference conducted by the TLMF. The funding received from sponsors range from a Member level of $500.00 to a $5000.00 level for a Senior Partner.

Senior Partner level funding includes recognition throughout the conference as a Senior Partner, a reserved table for 10 during the Governor's Welcome banquet, exhibit space, and a banner displaying your Company logo.

Participant:

Participant level support also plays a role in the success of the annual TLMF conference with funding levels ranging from $500.00 to a $5000.00 level. Participants attending a conference at the $5000.00 level will have a reserved table for 10 during the Governor's Welcome Banquet.
